Tabs fold back and stick to the sides of neck to simulate hood.

End of fringe sticks to side of head

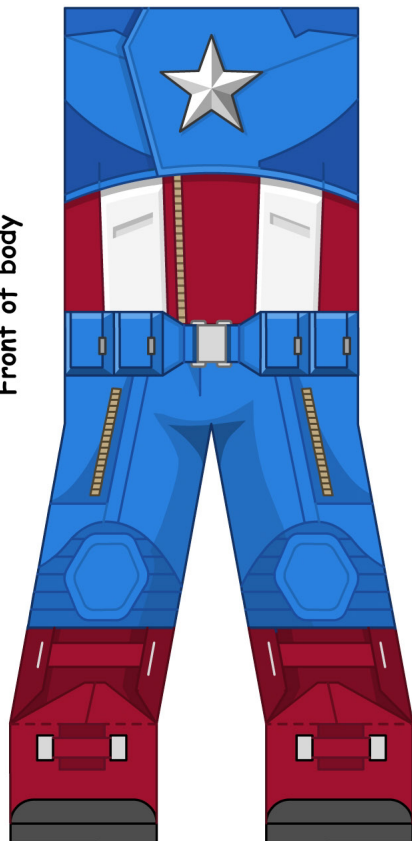

The front of the hair curves slightly so that this tab can fit into place on the head

Right arm

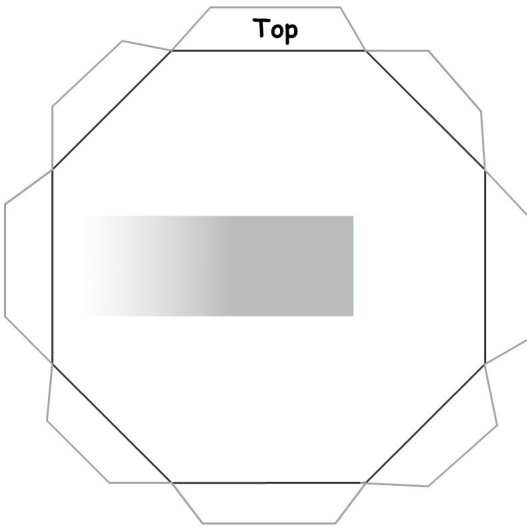

Left arm

This arm looks more complicated at first than it is. Once you've cut it out and creased all of the folds it should start to take shape.

Back of shield

Front of shield

IF you lose track of what ends the tops are, there is a light reflection across the front of the shield so you should still be able to tell which side joins with which.
